

GLOBAL GEOPOLITICAL TURMOIL

Lieutenant General (Ret.) Associate Professor Constantin MINCU, PhD*

Abstract: The author considers that after the outbreak of the COVID-19 pandemic, which since May 2020 resulted globally in some millions of infected and some thousands of dead people, the issue of global security and humanity rescue must become a priority for political leaders around the world and for all citizens interested in their future and that of their descendants.*

By presenting in this article some cynical and irresponsible statements made by some political leaders and individuals responsible in the high sphere of finance and corporations leaders is intended to raise awareness, once again, of the deadly danger looming over humanity.

Also, the terrifying content of Jacques Attali book “A Short History of the Future” of which I managed to present only short passages shows that the threat is real and very close in time.

The question is who can oppose and with what forces!?

In November 2019, I sent to the Publishing House of the Romanian Scientists Academy the article “Global Geopolitical Chaos”<sup>1</sup>, where, based on the study of some views and analyses of foreign and Romanian authors I evaluated, with my modest scientific means, the geopolitical developments of the last five years, which took place on the complicated and hectic world stage.

No politician, analyst or ordinary citizen foreseen that in less than two months the world will enter a major medical crisis as the one triggered by the COVID-19 epidemic that started in China (Wuhan). The epidemic has turned, extremely rapidly, in PANDEMIC affecting almost all countries of the world, the balance of casualties being terrifying (on 17.05.2020, there were 4.77 million infected and 315,170 dead people worldwide).

This evolution has had and is having major consequences on the relations between the states of the world and, in particular, between the great powers, as the disputes between the United States of America and China that gain increasingly harsh accents. The Russian Federation and its friends are enthusiastically involved in maintaining this dispute, especially by orchestrating a global information war, by spreading fake news and diligently promoting conspiracy theories. Romania has not escaped the “attention” of these countries and organizations, the recent events of 15 and 16.05.2020 proving this. Unfortunately, some media vectors in the country are working hard to panic and confuse population.

It is found that accusations and sometimes mutual insults between relevant competitors, turn into geopolitical disputes, with increasingly serious consequences for world peace and the stability of global and state-related economic and financial systems.

We are witnessing a real global geopolitical turmoil, especially after the recent statements of the American President Donald Trump regarding relations with China as: “There are many things we can do. We can break any relationship”.

This statement shocked the worldwide public opinion, but also the leaders of some important states in Europe and Asia, the question being: where will the disputes stop and what course will be taken if economic, financial and possible military escalations will happen?

The outbreak of the global Coronavirus crisis in January 2020 and its unprecedented explosion of worldwide spread brought to the attention of those interested, some shocking statements by former and current world personalities. I do not think it is bad to bring them to our attention, because we have a duty to understand what is happening to us.

I have selected from the twenty-one statements and positions that are easy to find on various media channels, just a few:

•Merton Lambert: “The Earth is cancerous, and the cancer is people” (trainer at the Rockefeller Foundation (!?)).

•Christine Lagarde, Head of the IMF: “Old people live too long and this is a risk for the global economy. We must do something, urgently”.

•Henry Kissinger, Ph.D., has several shocking statements:

- “Illegally we can do it immediately. Constitutionally, it will take a little longer” (referring to the drastic reduction of the world’s population).

- “Depopulation should be the highest policy priority”.

- “Older people are useless consumers”.

- “The world’s population must be reduced by 50%” (author’s note: he is generous, other individuals believe that 100-500 million people are enough on the Earth).

•David Rockefeller: “We are on the verge of a global transformation. All we need is a credible major crisis and nations will accept the New World Order (NOW). (Author’s note - this crisis has appeared, out of the blue!?)

•Mikhail Gorbachev, former Secretary General of the Communist Party and President of the Soviet Union: “We need to talk more clearly about sexuality, contraception, abortion, the value of population control, because, in short, the ecological crisis is the population crisis. Reduce the population by 90%, and then there would not be enough people to do so much environmental damage” (author’s note: he is harsher in his speech than the American Henry Kissinger).

•Jacques Cousteau, 1991, explorer and UNESCO representative: “In order to stabilize the world’s population, we need to eliminate 350,000 people a day. This is a horrible thing I have to say, but it is just as bad not to say it”.

•Eric Pianka, Ph.D., Professor of Evolutionary Ecology at the University of Texas: “War and famine are not effective. Instead, the disease provided the most effective and fastest way to kill the billions that must soon die in order to resolve the population crisis. AIDS is not an effective killer because it is too slow. My favourite candidate for the elimination of 90% of the world’s population is Ebola, because it is extremely lethal and kills in a few days, instead of a few years. We need to increase mortality by 90% in humans” (author’s note: here that, suddenly, due to natural or other causes, a new effective candidate (COVID-19) appeared for the drastic reduction of the population. The individual can be happy!).

•Congressman Larry P. McDonald, 1976: “The direction of the Rockefellers and their allies is to create a government in a world that combines super-capitalism and communism under the same umbrella, all under their control. Am I referring to a conspiracy? Yes. And I am convinced that there is such an international conspiracy in the field, applied and planned for a long time, and which is incredibly bad in intention” (Congressman Larry P. McDonald, 1976, killed in a Korean Airlines flight shot down by the Soviet Union).

Prince Phillip, Queen Elizabeth’s husband, Duke of Edinburgh: “If I reincarnated, I would like to return to Earth as a deadly virus that would reduce the human population” (author’s note: behold, his wish was fulfilled, without the need to reincarnate, still alive and approaching 100 years!?).

I have already mentioned that there are many such statements of absolute cynicism, but which must be known by the world public opinion, with the sole purpose of understanding what is being prepared and if possible, in order to save itself.

As for me, I took, with some reservations, the above statements and those that, due to available space, I could not reproduce, but reading the book of French politician and banker Jacques Attali “A brief history of the future”<sup>2</sup>, I thought: If it still happens!?

That is why I feel compelled to deliver some passages from the mentioned book that makes you shiver. It would be useful to be read carefully by as many people as possible. It is shocking what the author writes, in full line with the statements presented above:

•The author does not support his theories on the evolution of mankind in this century by using common sense expressions such as “probably ...”, no, he makes clear statements, such as: “It will occur, trigger, happen etc. something” at somewhat precise dates. Ion Coja defines Attali as “a Jew who knows what he is saying”.

•Attali confirms that “Illuminati” bankers are on the course of imposing a hideous “Brave New World” on humanity, one that has nothing to do with beauty, goodness, truth or reality.

•Although he is a supporter of the drastic reduction of the world’s population, he argues for one exception: at the European Jewish Congress states that the world’s Jewish population must reach 200 million (those interested can find an impressive CV of Attali on the Internet. He affirmed in politics, finance and in the efforts to establish the “New World Order”).

•Interestingly, he wrote a laudatory presentation to Karl Marx, arguing that Marx was a free market follower who favoured capitalism as a decisive step toward his communist ideal and predicted globalization as we know it today (e.g. the New World Order).

•In “A Brief History of the Future”, Attali predicts that the 21st century will unfold in three distinct phases:

1. Super-Empire

First there will be an era of privatization in which companies (corporations) impose the agenda. He writes: “Money will eventually rid it of everything that threatens it, including nation-states, which will be progressively destroyed. The market will become the only recognized law in the world. A system of power whose structure remains elusive, but whose purpose is global”.

2. Hyper-conflict

The super-empire will implode and there will be a period of global chaos. Starting in 2030, Attali predicts “devastating wars, eroded nations, religious groups, terrorist entities and pirates of free markets” that will fight each other.

3. Hyper-democracy (2060).

Exhausted by wars and social unrest, the world’s people will accept with open arms “the creation of a democratic world government”. This will be a collectivist system, in which everyone works for the “common good” (author’s note: we all know what this means since the time of communism).

•Here are some topics that Attali addresses in this book to give you an idea of the future that our “elites” are preparing for us:

➤ Illuminati and sexuality

In the future, people will no longer bond and create families. “The couple will no longer be the main basis of life and sexuality. People will prefer to choose, in full transparency, polygamous or polyandrous love” (author’s note: Attali further develops in this chapter other strange ideas, which seriously make a normal human think nowadays).

➤ Surveillance

Attali described an image of an omnipotent and ubiquitous surveillance system in the lives of all people. Even our washing machines will conspire against us, while “food packaging, vehicle upholstery and household goods will become «communicative» (author’s note: in the development of his insane ideas he brings other arguments, as we cannot avoid the course written by others for all of us).

➤ Immigration

Immigration flows will expand and will dismantle nation-states. “UK will become a major host country, especially for the citizens of Central European countries. In the end, they will also welcome the Ukrainian workers, who themselves will be replaced by the Russians and the vast Chinese population”. Sustainable (remaining) countries will learn that “an influx of population is the condition for them to survive”. In a sinister landscape, Attali talks about the hordes of the Third World swallowing the West: “More numerous than ever, the masses will throw themselves on the gates of the West. They already number hundreds of thousands every month; this figure will increase to millions, then to tens of millions”.

The US will be the most popular destination, and “in twenty years, Hispanic and African-American people will make up almost a majority here” (author’s note: the continuation of the chapter is even more exciting. It worth reading!).

➤ US future

The dollar will remain the dominant currency at least until 2025, when foreign supporters will begin to abandon it and “the credit pyramid based on the value of US housing will collapse”.

US will then begin to disintegrate, with violence and chaos following the economic crisis. Attali states: “There will be no day for tomorrow’s Africa that resembles today’s West, but the whole of tomorrow’s West could evoke today’s Africa”. “The US will have to reshape their government to regain control”. “Then the United States could become a kind of Scandinavian social democracy or a dictatorship - and perhaps even one after another. It would not be the first time in history such a surprise would occur: the first leader to apply the principles needed to get out of the crisis was Mussolini, the second was Hitler and Roosevelt himself was the third”.

“As chaos and violence engulf the world, Christianity and Islam will strengthen. The area closely linked to the Bible in the southern United States will mobilize and could dominate the US policy. The United States could fall prey to a, explicit or implicit, theocratic temptation, around 2040, in the form of theocratic isolationism in which democracy would be nothing more than a shadow”.

➤ The future of war

Around 2030, Attali sees the beginning of “hyper-conflict”, a period of extraordinary violence and riots, totally different from “hyper-democracy”; a single community government will emerge around 2060.

Future wars will be fought with “chemical, biological, bacteriological, electronic and nanotechnology” weapons. “Chemical weapons will be able to search for and kill leaders without being detected; pandemics should be ready to start at will (author’s note: the book was written in 2016 and here that in 2019-2020 a pandemic caused by COVID-19 broke out, without knowing exactly how it came out of the Pandora’s box); complex genetic weapons will be targeted in the future, especially against certain ethnic groups. Nano-robots as small as a speck of dust, known as grey jellies, could stealthily carry out surveillance and attack missions on enemy’s body cells.

These weapons will be widely available. “Most of these weapons will be accessible to small nations, non-states, pirates, smugglers, mercenaries, guerrillas, mafia, terrorists and any kind of illegal trafficker”.

The author further develops the theory of the generalization of wars around the world, starting with some states “favoured” by this process, as well as the resurgence of interethnic conflicts.

•In the last chapters, Attali addresses the issue of drug legalization, with devastating effects on individuals and communities. He also states that feminism is necessary for socialism by advocating “Progressively increasing the share of women in every dimension of the economy and society, especially through microfinance”.

It addresses in the “Brain Chip”, the problem of total control over the individuals of the world with few positive effects and extremely many negative aspects, leading to widespread madness.

- Agenda madness

The book is full of other similar descriptions of the human of the future, as an industrial object, an echo of the communist dream of the “Soviet individual”.

- NOW final goal

Near the end of the book, Attali tells us the ultimate goal of the New World Order: the destruction of humanity (author’s note: he develops terrifying scenarios and hypotheses).

- Interestingly, when the author talks about “hyper-conflict”, he does not mention anything about the use of nuclear weapons, weapons with total destructive potential, which would pulverize any form of life on Earth. I believe that the “Nuclear File” should be studied more carefully, because the possessing and aspiring countries are making considerable efforts to increase this capacity. Now that the world is busy with the pandemic, with the economic and financial crisis, it has kind of forgotten that it can disappear completely in thirty minutes.

Finally, in this sea of widespread turmoil, in which the states of the world and their citizens are not aware of what is being prepared for them by a group of irresponsible people, I believe that it is not enough to criticize and expose the New World Order, but we must be more determined to create our own world before a mad cult destroys us forever.
